Struggling in Life

We All Struggle in Life

We have been studying the book of Ecclesiastes and we can safely conclude by looking into its pages and into the pages of our lives, that life is messy.

Life is not a bed of roses.

Not only do we struggle in our lives, but we struggle spiritually. It is safe to say that every struggle we go through in life is a spiritual struggle.

We struggle in our work, health, family, and churches.

And each struggle reveals how weak we are and how much we need Christ.

And they are designed to do that - we are to come to the conclusion that all is vanity in life if lived not for Christ.

And even if we were to live it for Christ, it will not be easy.

Struggles Help Us to Grow in Christ

And each struggle helps us to press on in Christian growth. Indeed, that is how God has designed it (Romans 8:29; James 1:3, 4).

In Psalm 119:71, the Psalmist says that struggles and afflictions are good because they help us to understand the Scriptures in our hearts.

"It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes"

This is the case even with chastisement from God. Psalm 118:17-18 says that God has chastened us greatly so that we may "declare the works of the LORD."

One of the ways that struggles help us to grow is by realizing that God's grace is sufficient.

When we are sorely tested, and when we look to God in prayer - that's when we find grace to help in time of need (Hebrews 4:16).

It is in those times that we find his grace is sufficient - he gives us strength to endure (2 Corinthians 12:9) and he will at times give us a way out of that temptation and trial (1 Corinthians 10:13).

As the hymn writes - "He giveth more grace when the burdens grow greater, He sendeth more strength when the labors increase, To added affliction He addeth His mercy, To multiplied trials, His multiplied peace."

But one of the reasons why we don't overcome or endure our struggles is because we don't go to him.

Another reason is because we do not heed his word. We still do things the same way, react the same sinful way, and dig our heels into our sins.

This is why we don't always find reprieve or endurance in our struggles.

But God is concerned for our spiritual growth - is that not why, perhaps, we experience the same kinds of struggles over and over again? God is bringing them to us to change us.

All Believers Will Struggle

Before our conversion, we struggled with our sins. But our consciences were never exactly bothered because we loved our sins.

But after we have believed in Christ, as new creatures, we hate sin. And our sins become our struggle. As believers, we struggle against our sins.

Psalm 38:3-4 says - "There is no soundness in my flesh because of thine anger; neither is there any rest in my bones because of my sin. For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as an heavy burden they are too heavy for me."

This struggle is good because it shows that we are Christian. Our flesh wars against the Spirit that is in us and the Spirit wars against the flesh - this keeps us from doing what we want (Galatians 5:17).

Why do we struggle at work? Perhaps we have been treated badly. God calls us to forebear - but the flesh does not want to. Hence, we struggle.

We struggle because we can't complete our work and we worry. God calls us to work hard for our bosses and not to worry - but the flesh does not want to. Hence, we struggle.

Why do we struggle at home? Perhaps we have problems with our spouses. God calls us to do our part - but the flesh wants our spouses to do their part before we do ours. Hence, we struggle.

Perhaps we have difficulties with our parents. God calls us to honor them - but we resent them. Hence, we struggle.

Perhaps we have difficulties with our sinful thoughts against others. God calls us to think charitably - but our flesh trusts our sinful judgments. Hence, we struggle.

When Struggles Become Too Strong

Believing in Christ does not mean immediate and definite triumph over your struggles in this life.

You may never have complete victory until heaven. Life is messy. We are to live by faith and to walk with Christ every step of the way.

Sometimes we will succumb to our struggles.

That will lead to things like depression and resentment. David struggled long and hard - many of his Psalms reflect the darkness of his souls in those times.

Jonah also struggled and fell into a state of resentment. Elijah also struggled and fell into a state of depression.

This was despite the grace that was shown unto them. David was assured he would have the kingdom. Jonah was shown grace by God in the shelter provided by God. Elijah was given victory over the Baal prophets.

But sometimes trials are almost too much to bear. And in our weakness, we succumb to our struggles.

Hope in Times of Struggles

While we may be deep in struggles, the assurance is this - we will never be destroyed (2 Corinthians 4:9).

We may be weakened - but we will not be removed from the love of God.

We expect trials - Jesus himself said that in the world we shall have tribulation. But yet, these struggles are sent by God for our purification (Job 23:10).

And what we struggle with now, is nowhere compared to the joys we will one day experience. Struggles turn our faces heavenward.

We have to remember that Jesus has overcome the world (John 16:33).

Therefore, the Christian can respond to struggles, oppositions, trials, and difficulties with grace and not the flesh.

We can respond with hope. We can respond with joy. We can respond with confidence. We can respond with humility of heart. We can respond with grace. And while we respond with sorrow and tears - we weep not as those who have no hope.

Spiritual struggles are real - given to us for our growth. How regrettable if we never grow from them. ~ Pastor

No One Can Understand Life
Ecclesiastes 8:1-17

Children participate in school sports events. But these team sports may not be fair - some teams have better players, bigger players, older players. And even the circumstances may not be fair - the ground is uneven or in one team's favor. Those who win gloat, and those who lose complain. Sometimes even parents complain. All this despite teachers encouraging the children to play fairly, to enjoy the game, and to suck it up. Can we accept that life is not fair but to play fairly?

1. Human Rulers Can Be Bad But We Must Obey Them
  - a. The problem with human government
  - b. God's will for Christians toward human government
2. Others Sin and Prosper But We Must Do Good
  - a. Religious wicked people sin
  - b. Justice comes too little too late
  - c. God's people must live righteously
3. We Can't Understand All that God Is Doing Now
  - a. Trying to understand God's ways is exhausting
  - b. God's wisdom gives understanding and peace

When we stick close to God, and have his wisdom, we find peace. He helps us to be at peace without understand everything he's doing here. This encourages us to serve a God who is so much higher than we are. So even though the terrain is uneven, and others are bigger, and things are unfair, we know that God will make all things right for us one day.

Questions for Reflection:

1. How bothered and affected are you by the unfairness that you perceive in this world? How can you learn to submit yourself to the commandments of God despite the unfairness?
2. What is the terrain like in your life now? Do you expect it to improve? Do you feel that you deserve an improvement?
3. How much peace do you have? Can you eat, drink, and be merry?
